On the Subject of DACH Maze

The roof of the world.

This module has three displays: a large display that shows your current location*, and two smaller displays, one that says "DACH" and one that shows your destination. Use the map and the Abbreviation table below to find the correct path. Use the shapes on the module to cross boundaries between adjacent states, cantons and countries. If you pressed a shape that is not on the border of the region you are currently at, a strike will be recorded.

Since some regions have clashing two-letter abbreviations, you may need to travel to an adjacent region first to determine where you actually are.

Black lines represent borders you cannot cross, while white lines represent borders you are allowed to cross. Once you get to your destination, the module is disarmed.

If the top right panel doesn't say DACH, you are looking at a different module.
